An Inuktitut course will take place once again in the offices of the Avataq Cultural Institute in Montréal starting on Tuesday, February 7th 2017.

The language of instruction will be English.

This course is designed for motivated beginners willing and able to complement classroom time with additional study at home. However, the course may also be helpful for those who have some prior knowledge and would like to consolidate or refresh their Inuktitut.

All four language skills (listening, speaking, reading and writing) will be addressed. The course will cover the phonology and the basic syntactical and morphological structures of Inuktitut through an interactional approach coupled with drills and exercises.

The session will last 12 weeks
Classes will be on Tuesdays, 5:30 to 8:30pm
Venue : Avataq Cultural Institute
4150 Ste Catherine st. West, suite 360
Westmount, Québec
(Atwater Metro; facing Westmount Square Building)

The fee is $250, this covers all the course material that will be provided except for dictionaries.

If you would like to express your interest in participating or request further information, please get in touch with Georges Filotas
Tel.: 514-738-3968
E-mail: gfilotas@videotron

Note: In case you run into locked door on your way up to Suite 360, please take note of my cellphone 438-821-3968